The Lord is my light and my salvation. Ps. 20:1

OVER A CENTURY ago a small candle of intellectual light was lit at Saint Xavier's Academy as its doors opened to the students of Rhode Island. The flame of that candle has been one long continuous beacon fed by the unselfish devotion of the faculty, by the students' deliberate mastery of academic studies and by the many spiritual activities which have fostered lives of commitment to Christ. High standards and quality teaching have brightened the paths of wisdom for many girls.

As "old things pass away and all things are made new" the candle remains and glows steadily on new environs and enlightens new paths that stretch to every part of the world.

I shall light a candle of understanding in their hearts, which shall not be put out. II Esdras XIV, 25

*M*ANY LIGHTS have flooded the lives of Xavierites. There was the dormant light of reason at Creation; the light of grace at Baptism. Tender loving lights of parents nourished our physical development. The strong lights of pleasure and happiness molded our innermost nature and characters. Loyal companions have enkindled a flame of lasting friendships. Augmenting these lights, the strong intellectual rays of our faculty have penetrated and illumined our minds and hearts. To you we are deeply grateful for sharing your warmth by your teaching and understanding. The glow from your steadfast energy and consecrated lives will continue to light our path back to God, our Creator.

ACTIVITIES

The Student Council are off to a conference. But before leaving pose to say "Goodbye." With happy smiles are: Sandy Grandchamp, Mary Vendetti, Rita Andreasen, Judy Jaworski, and Eileen Lynch.

The Student Council pin is the symbol proudly worn by each elected member.

Sandra Grandchamp and Judith Jaworski display the school's new banner in preparation for the pep rally on school spirit.

Flame of freedom in their souls and light of knowledge in their eyes.

Symonds

Participation in school projects is a must for all Xavierites. Through the officers of the Student Council, the stimulus of school spirit is provided.

These officers: Rita Andreasen, president; Mary Venditti, vice-president; Eileen Lynch, corresponding secretary; Sandra Grandchamp, recording secretary; and Judy Jaworski, treasurer, sponsor events such as the Harvest Hop, Annual Pep Rally, and the sale of Christmas tags each year.

Aside from these undertakings, the Student Council represents the governing body of St. Xavier's. Because of it, St. Xavier's is a school of which Xavierites can be proud.

Rita Andreasen, president of Student Council, walking in the rain, thinking out a tentative agenda for the next meeting.

Eileen Lynch and Mary Vendetti asking Uncle Sam to safely deliver a letter of congratulations to Mount Saint Mary's.

Burning Love our hearts inspire

Inflaming others with its fire. Hymn--Holy Spirit

Sandra Grandchamp, Eleanor Hughes, and Pamela Chevalier return from a shopping trip with goodies for the senior Christmas party.

Janice Iavazzo and Marilyn Duxbury assist Donna Sliney as she places a new program into the Student Council display case.

STUDENT COUNCIL

With the light and guidance of the Holy Spirit, patron of the Student Council, the officers and representatives strive to carry out their objectives. They endeavor to reach these aims by furnishing all students with the opportunity to learn to do, and to practice doing, those things of a good leader or a good follower. A year-long program of worthwhile projects and activities is provided in order to contribute to the growth and development of the members.

ACTIVITIES

Kathy McAlice portraying Wormwood delivers her campaign speech during the Student Council Rally. In spite of a colorful campaign, Wormwood was defeated by Twinkles, School Spirit.

Representatives of the senior class Jane Lavery, Virginia Kelly and Susan Laliberte congratulate Barbara Lewis, La Salle's homecoming queen.

Donna Giglio, Patricia McAllister, Mary and Elaine Vendetti package and staple the bayberry bags that are to be sent to the Christmas Sale at Bay View.

Ellen Dolan and Jane McManus bring the joy and thrill of a Saint Patrick's Day party to happy little students.

Margaret Mercurio, prefect of our Lady's sodality at school, calls the meeting to order.

Donna Lebrun, vice-prefect of our Lady's sodality, prepares materials for a sodality bulletin board which decorates the first corridor in Academy Hall.

SODALISTS

Mary, Star of the Sea, Lend us light to see.

Hymn--Mary Immaculate

Early in the school year Margaret Mercurio, Donna Lebrun, Miss Hasselhurst of school department, Barbara Brewer, Miss Gertrude Coleman of School Department, Suzanne Foster, Jane McManus, Dr. George O'Brien of school department and Ellen Dolan held an orientation meeting to lay the foundation plans for the Apostolic work of Central Council with underprivileged children in public schools.

From the joy and smiles on Barbara Brewer and Suzanne Foster's faces, it is hard to tell who enjoys these picture books the most, the underprivileged children or the sodality members.

The basis of education here at St. Xavier's is the parallel development of one's spiritual and intellectual capacities.

Under the direction of several moderators, this spiritual growth is accomplished through the Sodality.

The officers of the Central Council: Margaret Mercurio, prefect; Donna Lebrun, vice-prefect; Ellen Dolan, secretary; Jane McManus, treasurer; Suzanne Foster, second assistant; and Barbara Brewer, first consultant, unite all Sodalists in the general theme—"God is love."

Having chosen the "Public School Apostolate," Sodalists strive to fulfill their motto, "Unite all minds in truth and hearts in charity."

Breath of God and inward Light

Wake my spirit, clear my Sight.

Hymn--Holy Spirit

Margaret O'Donnell is telling quite an intriguing story to her three pupils at Beacon Avenue School! The youngsters look forward each Friday afternoon to the lesson Margaret has planned. Thus they will not grow up to be culturally deprived but rather enriched socially, intellectually, and, we hope, spiritually.

Geraldine Rita is instructing Eddie, one of the boys who attended the Catechism classes, taught by the Socialists as juniors. Gerry is using the catechism, Christ the Light, while Therese Beaudette is setting up a series of pictures which will enhance the lesson and make it more interesting and comprehensible.

After a hard day in school and a brisk walk through the rain, Kathleen McArdle settles down to a lesson in phonics. These little ones intently listen and respond by turn.

At Flynn School Norma Marinaro, known to her pupils as "Miss Norma," gives directions for a lesson in art. Little Sharon waits patiently her turn for individual attention.

SODALITY APOSTOLATE

As a stimulator and mobilizer the Sodality of Our Lady aims to form and direct its members toward fuller Christian life and leadership. If properly lived and exercised, Sodality spirituality and apostolic opportunities should truly "light the candle" of each member; making her an effective apostolic arm of the Church.

The loyalties of the Sodalist are first to Christ, to the Church, and to the people of God. 1964-65 Sodalists have kept the "Light of Christ" burning through their apostolates and assemblies, and have realized with President Kennedy that "God's work must truly be our own."

Lynn Ann Ward, Editor of the Xavier for 1965, looks over the dummy sheets and wonders if the reality will really measure up to all she expects.

XAVIER

Light is the theme of 1965 Xavier. Pictures were taken and essays written with the hope of producing an excellent memory book. In the years to come, as you turn these pages may the lights of memory shine ever brighter. May this issue always be a burning lamp of happy school day delights.

Moira Putnam, assistant editor of the Xavier for 1965, counts the order blanks for the Yearbook. It thrills her to know that 88 percent of the students is interested.

Sister Mary Anastasia, R.S.M., Advisor for 1965 Xavier, and the assistant advisor, Sister Mary Thomas Aquinas, R.S.M., try to make the best selection of pictures.

of possibility into the flame of achievement.*

The student newspaper Xavierette is published bi-monthly by a staff of seniors and juniors. Staffers learn the fundamentals of journalistic practice relative to news reporting, writing and editing, page layout, and typography.

Students learn also the value of their school newspaper as a public relations organ. Through it, they project for the public an image of their school while they simultaneously serve the student body.

XAVIERETTE

Xavierette's Out! With that cry Ann Champagne, co-editor, on far right, happily distributes papers to members of the staff. They proudly re-read the news they collected and published in their first issue.

Light is sweet . . .

Mr. Joseph Conte, who is one of our leading local instrumentalists and music educators, trains and conducts the academy orchestra.

After rehearsal are Anita Susi, accordion, Margaret Centracchio, trombone, Carole Amore, trumpet, Geraldine Szarko, French horn, and Margaret Gudeczauskas, accordion.

... it is delightful.

Ecc. II, 7

Under the leadership of Mr. Joseph Conte and the supervision of Sister Marie Marguerite, the orchestra enriches the cultural activities of the school. Its members perform at school assemblies, cooperate with the Dramatic and Glee Clubs in their productions, and contribute their efforts to Career Day, Parents' Night, and Graduation. The highlight of the year is an exchange concert with Mt. St. Mary's Academy, Fall River. At these performances the orchestra demonstrates its ability to perform a wide variety of music ranging from the strictly classical to modern orchestral literature.

ORCHESTRA

Praise Him, all ye stars and light.

Ps. 148, 3

The annual Spring Concert is the main Glee Club production of the year. Members of the Senior Glee Club entertain during the first half of the concert.

Gail Duel, Mercedes Clifford, Rose Marie Vincent, and Carol Buccaci rehearse with Sister Marie Andre for a First Friday Mass.

Hands used for worship, whether folded in prayer or playing an organ for Mass are hands put to good use.

GLEE CLUB

This year, the Glee Club boasts of an enrollment of one hundred fifty members. The first performance of this group was during the Memorial Tribute to President Kennedy in November. This was followed by the usual Christmas programs which were climaxed by Midnight Mass at the Cathedral, where the Glee Club combined with the Cathedral and the Seminary choirs.

A new feature of the year's activities is the participation in the CYO singing festival in March.

Senior members of the Glee Club tune up for a performance while Sherry Boisvert gives the chord: Joan Masson, Elizabeth Sandberg, Elaine Roy, Mary Brady, Therese Beaudette, Marilyn Bernache, Helen Williams, Frances Dufresne, Donna LeBrun, Cecile Castillona, Ann Peltier, June O'Connor, Anne Marie O'Shea, Patricia Holden, Ann Fiedorowicz, Jeanne Shearer, Lorraine Frenze, Margaret Farrar, Linda Pizzi, Mary Madden, Mary Ann Natale, Ann Olean, and Louise Magnarella.

Kathleen DiFusco and Sherry Boisvert, accompanists for the Glee Club, play a duet accompaniment for the Battle Hymn of the Republic. These young musicians are the Glee Club's greatest asset.

The library has been called "The Hub of the School" and rightly so. Each day, from early morning until late afternoon, girls come for educational and recreational information. Our library is truly a center of activity.

Sister Mary Victoria finds a back issue of a periodical for Joyce Tullie. Each year the members of the Senior class delve deeply when research topics are assigned.

DRAMATICS

Terry Munson, as Barnaby in the Match Maker, expresses surprise at seeing the only man in New York that can put an end to his fun.

The stars in the dramatic scenes of Anastasia and the Match Maker shine with radiant light. The "stars" are Ellen West, Denise Paquette, Debbie Santopietro, Terry Munson, and Paula Duesing.

"All of a sudden I become a Mickey Mantle" responds Mama (Sue Foster) as Alice (Ellen West) and Jerry (William Christie) coax her to play shuffle board on the upper deck.

Dinner is served by Nancy Mello, Cathleen Padden, Sara Mello, Jacqueline Lynch and Barbara Brennan as Mrs. Jacoby (Sue Foster) delights in "becoming a most honorable guest" at the home of Japanese gentleman, Mr. Asano (Jeffrey Burrell).

While Mr. Asano (Jeffrey Burrell) reads, Noketi (Nancy Mello) provides refreshing breezes. Mama (Sue Foster) interrupts with a few kindly remarks.

The flash of bright lights, swift parting of the curtain and a loud ring of applause all signal the arrival of another theatrical performance at St. Xavier's. Behind the scenes, excitement fills the air as the memory of hard work, long hours and grueling rehearsals vanish with the first sound of appreciative clapping of hands beyond the lights. It is all these elements that create the magic of another successful Rosa Mystica production, The Majority of One.

Janet Boyle and John Ricci, Karen Belliotti and Mike McGann, Maureen Coleman and Steve Curtin, Barbara Rush and James McGuire put their "best foot forward" for the dance.

The Autumn of the year, with its tawny pumpkins and cascading leaves is truly a festive season. For Xavierites, this season is accented by the Harvest Hop.

Under the direction of the Student Council, the gymnasium is "transformed" into a gaily decorated barn, complete with haystacks, scarecrows, and harvest scenes. In these inviting surroundings, colorfully dressed Xavierites and their dates enjoy a romantic evening.

At the close of the dance, a floral presentation is made to Our Lady. Thus comes the end of a perfect evening.

"Sitting one out" during the evening's festivities are Donna Vendittoli and her date, Joseph Dawauki. Also enjoying themselves are Eileen Walsh and her escort, Jack Lambert.

HOP

Players listen attentively to last-minute pointers during a time out. The importance of teamwork and strategic thinking become evident during these games.

Nancy Bamford leaps high to retrieve rebound. At moments like this tension reaches its peak providing much excitement for the spectators.

Gerri Rita, co-captain, steals ball from opponent in a fast drive up court. This sport enables girls to use quick thinking and fast work.

BASKETBALL

A combination of good sportsmanship and physical exercise is realized by St. Xavier's Basketball Club as they learn the importance of interscholastic competition. Many long but satisfying hours of practice drive the team on to their triumphant goal, victory. The varsity team has arduous rivalry with many high schools in the area.

The spectators serve as an integral part of every game. Their support and enthusiasm are certainly appreciated. Encouraged by the cheerleaders, the basketball games prove to be exciting and full of soaring tension.

Chris Quinton leads the girls in a "Welcome Cheer" in playing host to St. Clare's school.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders display their agility in executing the "Let's Go" cheer, one guaranteed to lead the team to victory.

TEACHERS CLUB

Programmed Instruction, one of the modern techniques in the study of Mathematics, captures the attention of Corinne Jarbeau and Lynette Beltrami, members of the Future Teachers Club.

In preparation for College Night, Elaine Vessella, June Shawcross, Nancy Gillo and Paulette August, all members of the Future Teachers Club, do their best to extend a warm welcome to the representative from the colleges, their parents and classmates.

Andrea Tworog, Beverly Nemitz, Janice Beaucage and Rita Pratt, members of the Future Teachers Club, study the growth and goals of the organization.

That research forms a necessary and integral part of a debator's formation is well realized by varsity debator Annette Rubino. Here Linda Perotta observes some of the material with which Annette ably upholds her position of second speaker for the negative.

Varsity debator, Elena Natalizia, points out to two novice debators, Gale Moran and Maureen Kennedy, the main tasks of the first affirmative speaker.

"And on this we rest our case" summarizes Denise Rondeau as her colleague Rose Mary Hanrahan smiles approval. Gathering ammunition for the rebuttal are Doris Spencer and Eileen Hayes; as chairman Jane Miller assumes a pose of impartiality. Intramural debates make excellent practice for the bi-weekly diocesan tournaments.

DEBATING CLUB

A display of primitive art catches the eye of Mary Vendetti and Mary Lou Mazza.

Rae Rondeau and Marilyn Duxbury are ready to glaze their bisque ware. From among many sample glazes in fish form they are choosing the color they wish to use.

Members of Art Club are sanding their greenware pottery to smooth off the finger impressions and to get an even edge. All work is done by hand shaping the first year. They also learn to pour molds and to use the potter's wheel.

ART CLUB

HOME ECONOMICS

"Betty Crocker never had it so good," according to sophomores Rae Rondeau, Claire Fitzgerald, and Janice Amore who whip up some "goodies."

Lower left: Our favorite twins, sophs Joan and Jean Boutier stir up a storm each week at Cooking Classes.

Barbara Mowry and Renee Bilodeau stop to look up from the trying task of getting the exact measurement.

The markings on the label to be attached to the gift of this enchanted evening glow warmly above the heads of the Sodality Board as they file by to the step of the Grand March.

Bright memories are born as students enjoy the fleeting moments of this special time with Dad. Too soon the strains of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" will signal the close of an occasion to remember.

Junior, Dianne Gendice, and Dad engage in a lively cha-cha to the tempo of Tommy Masso's Orchestra. The band kept Xaverites and their fathers "on their toes" the entire evening.

The Soul that can render an honest and perfect man commands all light.

Fletcher

Our Lady's shrine looms prettily in the background as Xaverites complete the circuit of the Grand March toward this destination.

A stardust-sprinkled evening draws to a close as the company clusters about the shrine to offer a garland — and gratitude.

FATHER'S NIGHT

Soft lights . . . romantic music . . . seven hundred dewy-eyed Xavierites dancing with their favorite beaux . . . these are the highlights of the annual Father-Daughter Dance.

Held in January, the dance is designed to increase paternal familiarity with the school, the faculty, and most particularly with the girls. On this special night, every dad becomes a shining white knight, escorting a fair princess to the ball.

For the girls, this social event affords an opportunity for "showing-off" their most precious possession. And for the fathers, the dance is a veritable "fountain of youth." Indeed, the Father-Daughter Dance is one of the highlights of the social season at St. Xavier's.

JUNIOR PROM

Her beauty makes this vault a feasting presence full of light.

Shakespeare

Therese Beaudette and James Griffin radiate the joy of a very special night.

Long after their feet had forgotten, Kathleen Ellinwood and Geraldine Rita remembered their junior prom.

Despite the complete workout resulting from the calisthenics of the "Bunny Hop," Jane McManus and friends remained "Younger Than Springtime."

The light of Sister Anastasia's appreciation warms the hearts of Eileen Lynch and Robert Hardy.

◀ Caught by the spell of Tommy Masso's music are Lynne Ward and James Duesing.

Take a large portion of young girls and their favorite beaux, a sprinkling of flowers, a dash of music and mix them all together. Add just a pinch of the light of youth and you'll have the perfect product—our junior prom. Surely, these were the ingredients which made us feel "Younger Than Springtime."

JUNIOR FAREWELL

In one of the show's highlights, Zade Koressel and Jeanne Antaya portray the main characters in a comedy spoof of the English language.

Janice Rewucki, Mary Venditti, Patricia McAllister, Rosemary Eastwood, and Kathleen Hastings don mortar boards and gowns in a "junior preview" of the graduation march.

Suzanne Foster, Lynne Ann Ward, Susan Casey and Kathleen Hastings provide the vocal entertainment of the afternoon in harmony, reminding the Seniors of many warm experiences.

Each year the Junior class of St. Xavier's pools its talent, time, energy and love to present a variety show designed to honor the graduating Seniors. This production is composed of skits and songs on the subject of school life. Many an upperclassman is treated to the humorous recreation of her high school exploits. The history of the class from freshman year to graduation is outlined. Thus, the most minute habit or happening becomes a priceless memory. However, the Junior Farewell is much more than an afternoon of fun and laughter. It represents the traditional respect afforded the seniors, the good wishes of the Junior Class, and the gratitude of the entire student body.

Suzanne Foster, portraying the ace reporter of the American School Scene Magazine, relates the highlights of the week and the news of the world, the nation, and most particularly of Saint Xavier's Academy.

Farewell we lose ourselves in light.

TYPING CLUB

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Department, a vital part of our school, strengthens and deepens self knowledge in the student. To help the girl analyze her abilities, interests and limitations, each student participates in weekly group guidance classes. She also meets with her chosen counselor at least four times a year.

The Guidance Office is well equipped with student records for the teachers, and excellent informative reading matter for the student.

Lorraine Apostolico receives from Sister Mary Thomas Aquinas a registration form for college board tests.

Kathleen Wahl, Kathleen Ellinwood, Ann Champagne, Moira Putnam, Geraldine Szarko and Christine McCormick are looking through college catalogs trying to decide which college is for them.

ALUMNAE

The bond of sorority between Xavierites is indeed a wonderful link of love. However, an even greater member of this chain is the Alumnae Association. Composed entirely of former Xavierites, this association provides both financial and spiritual support for the present students of St. Xavier's Academy.

All Xavierites, from the new freshman to the graduating seniors, look to the members of the Alumnae as their older sisters. From them, we at St. Xavier's receive the keys to success. They are the guiding lights upon which St. Xavier's is truly founded.

Judith Benson '61, a senior at Salve Regina College, in the nursing program, returns to Alma Mater at Christmas to collect food and gifts for a needy family that she met while she was in public health nursing.

Each year the Alumnae hold a Communion breakfast for the sophomores, freshmen, and their mothers. This year it was held in the fall in the gym.

The Alumnae give a tuition scholarship each year. Margaret O'Donnell, alumnae scholarship girl for class of '65, has proved her worthiness by being a finalist in Merit Scholarship. Congratulations, Margaret.

Light--God's eldest daughter.

"My mother is a graduate of S.X.A." say these proud seniors. Mrs. Thomas (Mulvey) White and daughter, Barbara; Mrs. Edmund (O'Brien) Maroney and daughter, Elizabeth; Mrs. Joseph (Priest) Mazza and daughter, Mary Lou; Mrs. Edwin (Bresnahan) Ellinwood and daughter, Kathleen; Mrs. Henry (Conley) Williams and daughter, Helen; Mrs. Eda (Monti) Venditti and daughter, Mary; Mrs. William (Squillante) McAllister and daughter, Patricia. Missing from picture is: Mrs. Fred (Dunphy) Gorman and daughter, Mary; Mrs. Alfred (McGuirl) Champagne and daughter, Ann.

SENIOR PRESIDENTS

The light radiating from the hearts of the senior class presidents illuminates and inspires loyalty and enthusiasm. Their responsibilities are many, but they are always performed with unlimited thoughtfulness and cooperation. Generosity, personified in these girls, extends to after school hours. Supervising class projects, attending Student Council meetings, and decorating for school dances consumes a better portion of their time. Manifestation of leadership, as displayed by these officers, is evident in the unity of the senior class. We thank them for their zeal and dedication to us this year.

The '65 presidents hold a candle which symbolizes the theme of the Xavier. Each places a hand on it as an indication of her loyalty.

*Love the light of Wisdom 6:23, 7:26

Roses for love, diploma for knowledge attained, and cap for the dignity of academic achievement are universal symbols of graduation day.

As the graduate solemnly proceeds into the auditorium, she realizes that the success of her preparation at Saint Xavier's lies in her future fulfillments.

The familiar people, places, and events will become memories; the sweeping lines of the cap and gown, the valedictory, the awards, the moment at which the graduate receives that precious diploma will pass swiftly. But the preparation which has culminated in this moment will not pass. The guidance and instruction of the faculty has nurtured the flame within each girl, enabling her to foresee the time of fruition and beauty.

The orchestra begins to play, the graduates leave the auditorium, the lights flicker out; but one remains burning, and that one lights the world.

Ann Marie Burns, the 1964 valedictorian, speaks to the guests and graduates emphasizing dedication in the world today.

GRADUATION

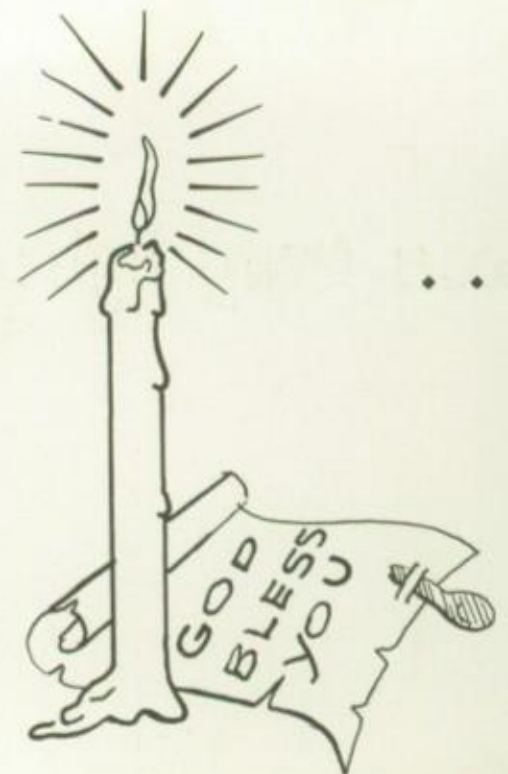

On campus the departing seniors encircle the familiar image of Our Blessed Mother and pledge their love to her in a hymn of praise.

Addressing the girls after the reception of their diplomas, Most Rev. Bernard M. Kelly parallels the graduates on graduation day to the apostles on Pentecost Sunday.

The glow from that fire

can truly light the world.

So far, a wonderful though wacky senior with a perfectly wonderful personality. Best of luck and Good Wishes always. Have a blast at San Diego College!
I'll be thinking of you.
Love,
Janet

Pat, a real great kid in time of troubles. Look at all the times I would have been kicked out of the placement office if it hadn't been for you. Good luck in all you do. Love, Pat

Pat,
 Best of luck in the future. Remember all the fun in algebra! Class
 Love ya!
